- Page 16 Transcriber's Note—There is a photograph of an alligator. The alligator is mostly underwater. Below the water we see the snout and jaw of the alligator with many large teeth. We also see a large number of dark-colored bumps along the jawline of the alligator. The alligator is on top of rocks and vegetation. Above the water we see the eyes, the nose, and bumpy skin of the alligator. In the background we see grass and trees along the bank of the water. Above the alligator we see a blue sky with white clouds.
